Applicant has identified the apparatus of Figures 1 and 2 of his drawings as prior art. No publication of the prior art has been identified but is assumed herein to be more than one year prior to the filing date of the present application. Source identification is requested. Maybe Creek is the source but such, if it is, is not clear. Creek does have Schottky diodes.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the admitted prior art of Applicant's Figures 1 and 2. With regard to claim 1, element 216 is a diode quad, element 210 is a first current source and element 212 is a second current source. The nodes at 3 o'clock and 9 o'clock are considered to be "adapted" to be connected to a source of differential signals. With regard to claim 10, the same argument applies in that the nodes at 3 o'clock and 9 o'clock are connectable to nodes of a unit under test. With regard to claims 2-7 and 11-13 the elements 210 and 212 are identified as programmable and the diodes are identified as Schottky diodes. With regard to claims 8, 9 and 14 terminals VP and VM are presumably connected in some way to ground or some other DC reference level.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Babcock, Wakimoto et al, Linder, Roth et al, Linder and Kohsiek are cited to show quad structures acting as differential loads.
